About the USTA

The United States Tennis Association (USTA) National Campus, located at Lake Nona in Orlando, Florida, features more than 100 courts (a mix of hard and clay), houses the USTA's Community Tennis and Player Development divisions, and is home to the UCF men's and women's collegiate tennis teams.

The USTA is the national governing body for the sport of tennis in the U.S. and the leader in promoting and developing the growth of tennis at every level -- from local communities to the highest level of the professional game. The USTA:

- is a not-for-profit organization
- with more than 655,000 members
- invests 100% of its proceeds in growing the game.
- It owns and operates the US Open, one of the highest-attended annual sporting events in the world
- it owns approximately 90 Pro Circuit events throughout the U.S. and selects the teams for the Davis Cup, Fed Cup, Olympic and Paralympic Games.

UCF to the USTA

The University of Central Florida is one of six schools offering an undergraduate PTM program, But we're just 30 minutes away from the USTA National Campus, giving students the opportunity to learn on-site. No other program has that advantage. Our proximity to USTA gives students a homecourt advantage to a world-class facility, not just the classroom.

"PTM emphasizes learning while doing. With the experience and the networking here, the students will have many options for careers in all areas of the industry." - Marc Gelina, Associate Director PTM, Rosen College
