Kennon Adkinson '08 Sonny's BBQ

Kennon has worked for Sonny's since June 2013 and has over a decade of culinary experience. As the Senior Director of Catering for the local franchise group, iServ BBQ, LLC, Kennon manages a catering team of 13 across Central Florida. He is most passionate about giving back to his community and the many causes he cares about, such as American Heart Association and American Cancer Society.

Kennon's bigger role at Sonny's is the one of Chief Kindness Officer. There he leads the team's effort to amplify kindness in the communities they serve, inspire acts of kindness, and helps his restaurants share their stories.

In his free time, Kennon loves to travel and dabbles in extreme activities such as skydiving, primitive camping and water sports. Kennon is big on family and is happiest riding around on his scooter with his dog, Elijah, in the sidecar.

David Buckalew '05 Owner, Buckalew Hospitality

While a student he started his business, Buckalew Hospitality. His business started out by doing mystery shops for hotels and meeting and event management for event planners, they have now transitioned into a nationwide temporary staffing company focused on event management that employs over 500 people every year. In addition to running his business he is very active in the Orlando's Chapter of MPI where he serves as VP of Education, co-hosts Orlando's only meeting and event Podcast - #SwagAndRepeat, and holds the accreditation of Certified Meeting Professional. In his spare time, he enjoys baseball, UCF sports, running and supporting the Orlando hospitality industry.

Steve Cokkinias '18MS Senior Vice President, Market Development FMG Leading

Steve came to FMG Leading from the hospitality industry, where he held leadership roles for nearly 2 decades at luxury hotels around the world.

He began his hospitality career with Starwood Hotels & Resorts before joining The Ritz-Carlton Hotel Company in April 2000 in Jamaica. Steve held various leadership positions at three different properties before becoming the youngest General Manager in the brand's history at The Ritz-Carlton, Kuala Lumpur at age 29. In addition to his current market development and brand oversight responsibilities at FMG Leading, he has delivered learning programs and keynotes on service excellence, culture, and leadership to a wide range of clients.

While in Malaysia, Steve was elected to the Board of Governors of the American-Malaysian Chamber of Commerce (AMCHAM), and he has served on the Steering Committee of the U.S. Embassy-based Overseas Security Advisory Committee (OSAC). In addition, he has assisted with the pre-opening of five Ritz-Carlton properties worldwide, including The Ritz-Carlton, Doha (Qatar) and The Ritz-Carlton, Guangzhou (China).

Steve earned a bachelor's degree in History and Sociology from Washington and Lee University, and a Master of Science degree in Hospitality and Tourism Management from the University of Central Florida's Rosen College of Hospitality Management.

Dominique Greco '11
Collective Strategies

Dominique recently launched her own company, Collective Strategies, LLC, an initiative to create more public/private partnerships. She has a reputation for managing groups at large and disrupting defunct practices that call for innovative change. A proactive leader throughout her time at the University of Central Florida's Rosen College of Hospitality Management, and in her hospitality/project management career, Dominique has led with passion and enthusiasm. She earned the role as the Director of Special Projects for Downtown Orlando's largest ownership portfolios in 2012 and quickly became an indispensable resource in maintaining the success of the group's several entertainment and hospitality venues, all the while building an invaluable awareness of the nightlife industry that fuels the city. Dominique was offered the role as the first Nighttime Economy Manager with the City of Orlando in 2017 making her one of the first five "night mayors" in the United States. Fostering and enhancing the safety, vibrancy, and growth of downtown's various rapidly expanding industries focused on hospitality and the visitor experience is the fundamental objective of this unique role. Serving as liaison between downtown stakeholders and the city, Dominique brings a fresh yet polished perspective to this next chapter of local governance.

Alexis Johnson '05, '10MS
Executive Director
USTA Florida Foundation

Alexis Senge Johnson serves as the executive director for the USTA Florida Foundation, where she supports grassroots tennis programs focused on under-resourced and adaptive athlete throughout the state and has been their resident Certified Fund-Raising Executive since earning the international credential in 2020. Previously Alexis worked in the realm of live event and entertainment production, for almost two decades, when not volunteering as the development director for TheatreWorks Florida. After leading everything from tiny horses and production teams to a board of directors and organization volunteers, Alexis now takes her unique outlook on leadership and uses it to creatively inspire people into action across the nonprofit and corporate sectors.

Alexis has often found herself as one of few women at the table and because of that she sees the importance of giving her time back to the next generation of leaders. She is a proud mentor and facilitator for the USTA Florida Leadership Academy, where she strives to empower participants to support and advocate for each other throughout their career paths. Alexis also serves as a Rosen College alumni mentor to give back to the community that inspired her to be uniquely different. When not wearing all her other hats, you can find her writing about leadership and life at 21stCenturyGal.com.

Alexis holds a Bachelor of Science in hospitality management and a Masters in nonprofit management from the University of Central Florida

Dennis Levy '10
Owner, Levy Hospitality (former owner of Night Auditors of FL)

While completing his internships during the course of his undergraduate studies at the Rosen College, Dennis gained diversified experience with an emphasis on lodging, food and beverage, and accounting operations by working for companies such as Disney and Herschend Family Entertainment. Before he graduated Dennis was named the Director of Business Development for a regional food service management company which he successfully expanded to manage 250 K-12 school cafeterias across the country participating in the USDA's National School Lunch Program. After exiting the business in 2014 Dennis acquired Night Auditors of America and founded his consulting firm, Levy Hospitality. Since that time Dennis has worked closely with hotel managers and business owners of all types to create synergy between departments through management efficiency and custom-tailored business systems. He holds an active Florida Real Estate License and was awarded a fellowship in 2016 by the New Leaders Council, a national organization that develops and networks progressive business and political leaders.

Dennis has a passion for traveling the world and experiencing new and different cultures having visited over 20 countries to date; he hopes to visit many more. He shoots competitively and loves his two cats, Chips & Guacamole. He also serves as the current Vice President of the Heron Cove Community Association and has served the Rosen College previously as a member of the Hospitality Management Curriculum Advisory Board, as well as a Rosen College Ambassador while he was a student. He credits much of his professional success to his time at Rosen, his current active participation as an alumnus, and the network of colleagues he has built through the college over the years.

Luis Pardillo '04
Co-Founder and CEO, Dreamfield Sports

Luis Pardillo is the CEO and co-founder of Dreamfield Sports. His background in corporate strategy and operational leadership has allowed for Dreamfield to become an early leader in the Name, Image and Likeness (NIL) movement for athletes. Prior to creating Dreamfield, Luis was the Vice President of operations for New York City based real estate company, Ollie. The company's focus was finding free market solutions to reduce the rent burden, particularly for working professionals, in an otherwise unattainable housing market in major metropolitan areas. While at Ollie, Luis built a strong working relationship with the co-founder and COO, Andrew Bledsoe, who he would later partner with to form Dreamfield. The underlying concept of finding ways to help others through the free market inspired Luis to move into the NIL space. Luis spent much of his professional career before Ollie working in corporate Operations for Fortune 500 companies such as Symantec and AT&T, where he was recognized with awards for his work in workforce efficiency.

In his personal life, Luis is married to his college sweetheart, Elizabeth, with whom they have one son, Dominic. He is passionate about sports, especially his alma mater, UCF Knights, as well as all Miami based professional teams.

Kristin Wilson '07

Founder of 2 all-female companies, Our DJ Rocks and Photobooth Rocks

Headquartered in Orlando, FL where she leads a team of more than 35 employees who market, sell and produce 800-900 events annually. Her journey into the world of DJing began when she asked a simple question, 'Can chicks be DJs too?' The answer was "YES" and the learning began.

Kristin DJed her way through college and graduated with a BA and Public Relations with a double Minor in Marketing and Education from the University of Central Florida. When Kristin launched Our DJ Rocks in 2010, the goal was to bring her energy and passion for music to every event including weddings, corporate events, and parties of all types. Who knew she would be able to fuse her knowledge of hospitality in the events world with her love of DJing along with Degree in Advertising/Marketing/PR?!

In 2014, Kristin started expanding her DJ team and has more than quadrupled the Our DJ Rocks DJ roster to currently 12 DJs, in less than 5 years. She meticulously trains every DJ in the Our DJ Rocks "DJ University" Training program growing the business to the only all-female DJ multi-operation company in the South East.

Kristin has grown two successful businesses with a rock solid foundation using a combination of creative marketing/branding and building a company culture that people want to connect with.

Something people would be surprised to know about Kristin:

She is a mom by love and heart, through marriage and has two beautiful step-daughters.
