

Event Leadership

ROSEN COLLEGE OF HOSPITALITY ■ UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL FLORIDA ■ ORLANDO

Program Description

The event industry faces a new future which will be driven by emerging technologies, more demanding clients and consumers, the search for sustainability and social justice, highly engaging in-person, virtual and hybrid event formats, event analytics, and the need for new leaders in the field to manage the complexity and dynamism of the event industry of the future.

This fully online, 30-credit cohort program is designed to educate students on these trends, enable them to understand the market(s), and develop strategies for events to succeed in the highly competitive event landscape. In addition to the necessary management and leadership skills to equip them for success, the program will introduce destination and international contexts that underpin event design and delivery as well as provide the legal, analytical, and reflective leadership skills to succeed.

Earning the MS in Event Leadership will be achieved via highly experienced faculty delivery to a cohort group of students who will be encouraged to immerse themselves in the study of events to become future industry leaders or expand their current capabilities in the industry.

Build upon your strengths and interests, broaden industry knowledge, and sharpen your leadership strategies at Rosen College. We will incorporate your professional experiences into our interactive learning environment. The typical Master's candidate holds an undergraduate degree in event, hospitality, business management, or a related discipline and works for a leading event or hospitality organization. Prospective students should have at least 3-5 years of experience within the event industry and an interest in achieving senior-level leadership positions within the field.

Hospitality and Tourism Management MS program may be completed fully online.
