

Senior Living Management

ROSEN COLLEGE OF HOSPITALITY MANAGEMENT ■ UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL FLORIDA ■ ORLANDO

We Know Senior Living

The Senior Living Management Bachelor of Science degree is an interdisciplinary program that combines the art and science of Hospitality Management with Aging Studies and Health Care Management. The undergraduate degree program is designed to adapt the culture and philosophy of hospitality to the senior living industry, meeting a call from industry leaders that understand that a culture of hospitality presents a strategic advantage for senior living communities by enhancing the overall experience of the residents.

The objective of the program is to prepare its graduates for managerial positions in the senior living industry. This degree program does not require a medical or nursing degree. There is no patient care involved, just management of all aspects of a home or community. The major components focus on courses in hospitality management, healthcare management, and gerontology.

The First Degree Program of its Kind

The Senior Living Management program is the first degree to combine exceptional hospitality customer service with an emphasis on healthful living for seniors.

SLM Faculty: Knowledgeable and Engaged
